EXPERIENCE

Tourism Whistler, Web Developer, October 2010 - present
Tourism Whistler provides me with the perfect work life balance. Being that my job is to promote Whistler to the world, primarily by building and maintaining www.whistler.com Whether it's building a new mobile site, or our newly launched mountain bike trails database, most of my work is geared towards getting potential visitors excited about a trip to Whistler. Getting people to visit Whistler isn't the hard part of my job, dragging myself away from the mountains in time for work however, proves a tad harder.

Nicklaus North Golf Course, guest Host, May 2010 - October 2010
Working at Nicklaus was more than getting free rounds of golf. It was a great insight into providing high end customer service to members who were all paying a lot of money to play. Therefore they demanded and deserved looking after. From dealing with the rental inventory, to providing course information all the way through to maintaining standards on course, working at Nicklaus was both intensive and rewarding. Not to mention my handicap improved over the course of the summer!

Coolpink, Web Developer, July 2007 - November 2009
During my time with Coolpink I had the opportunity to work with some household names and produced award winning work that was seen by thousands of people on a daily basis. Work at Coolpink was a lot of fun, but being an integral part of a small team was also very rewarding. My usual work at Coolpink not only involved creating websites for clients, but also managing my own workflow, interfacing with clients and drinking plenty of tea!

G1 Rentals Whistler Blackcomb, Retail Rental Technician, November 2006 - May 2007
During a typical day at G1 I would tender to hundreds of customers, ranging from selling retail items, to the setup and maintenance of skis and boards and dealing with cash sales. Working in Whistler's busiest rental shop taught me a lot about stress management!

ABOUT

When not writing CV's I can usually be found online, the life of a web developer is a hard habit to kick.

In my spare time I enjoy a game of squash, simply because it's good for fitness, even if you lose!

I prefer winter to summer, being that winter brings snow, and snow means skiing. I'm a trained ski instructor and have the badge to prove it.

In all honesty I haven't read a book since school, which is nothing to be proud of. If you know any good ones, tell me.

I've never been Sky Diving or Bungee Jumping. I'd love to sky dive, but I'm not too sure about bungee jumping.

My lucky number is 14. And 28.
